

Quick Start Guide- Journal of Business and Media Psychology

The Journal of Business and Media Psychology (JBMP) is a web-based, peer-reviewed, open access journal which covers applied psychology, business and media psychology. Many of the articles are in both English and German.

This guide is intended to help you start searching the journal.

Searching

The search box is in the bottom right corner of the page.

Search results

The screenshot shows the search results page for the query 'psychology'. On the left is a navigation menu with links: Home, About us, Current Release, Archive, Call for Papers, and Contact. Below the menu are flags for German and UK. The main content area displays two search results. The first result is titled 'Match me if you can: A exploratory study to describe how Tinder is used' from Issue 1 -2015. A red box with an arrow points to the title with the text 'Click on the title to read the article'. A second red box with an arrow points to the German and UK flags with the text 'If you only see results in German, click on the UK flag to see results in English'. The second result is titled 'Consequences of Industry 4.0 on Human Labour and Work Organisation' from Issue 1 -2015. The page also includes a 'Key Words' section: 'Mobile-Dating, Tinder, Over-Choice-Effect'.

Browsing

The screenshot shows the homepage of the Journal of Business and Media Psychology. On the left is a navigation menu with the following items: Home, About us, Current Release, Archive, Call for Papers, and Contact. Below the menu are flags for Germany and the United Kingdom. The main content area features a blue header banner for 'AUSGABE 1/2015' with the focus 'Schwerpunkt Wirtschafts- und Medienpsychologie'. Below the banner, the 'Home' section contains a paragraph about the journal's focus on applied and international scientific knowledge. The 'Research is' section contains a paragraph about the journal's aim to publish theory-driven and practical research. Two red arrows point from text boxes to the 'Current Release' and 'Archive' menu items. The first text box says 'Click 'Current Release' to see the most recent issue of the journal'. The second text box says 'Click 'Archive' to see all other articles published by the journal'.

Journal of Business and Media Psychology

AUSGABE 1/2015
Schwerpunkt Wirtschafts- und Medienpsychologie

Home

The Journal of Business and Media Psychology is an open access, peer-reviewed, web-based, international journal of applied psychology, business psychology, and organizational and international audience and sees itself as an open access publication of scientific knowledge.

Research is

The JBMP aims to publish research that is published in the JBMP are to be underpinned by theory and illustrate practical and useful insights. Authors are urged to describe the implications of their results for science and practice.

Click 'Current Release' to see the most recent issue of the journal

Click 'Archive' to see all other articles published by the journal

Viewing articles

Some articles are only in German, but most have English versions as well. If you find an article or abstract in German, you can usually translate it into English, as shown below.

The screenshot shows a web page for an article titled "Kulturelle Synergie und organisationaler Wandel: Von der Krise zur Innovation" by Pernille S. Strøbæk & Joachim Vogt. The page is in German. On the left sidebar, there is a "Kontakt" section with two flags: the German flag and the UK flag. A red arrow points from a callout box to the UK flag. The callout box contains the text: "Click on the UK flag or on 'English' to see the article in English". Another red arrow points from the callout box down to the word "English" in the text "Leider ist der Eintrag nur auf English verfügbar."

Please note that it is only possible to download PDFs of articles in German. You can only read articles in English on the website. To download a PDF, find the article in 'Current Release' or 'Archive' and click on the link to the right of the article's title.

If you need further help please contact the Online Library

+44 (0)20 7862 8478 (between 09.00 and 17.00 GMT)
OnlineLibrary@shl.lon.ac.uk
<http://onlinelibrary.london.ac.uk/about/contact-us>