

Project MUSE - Quick Start Guide

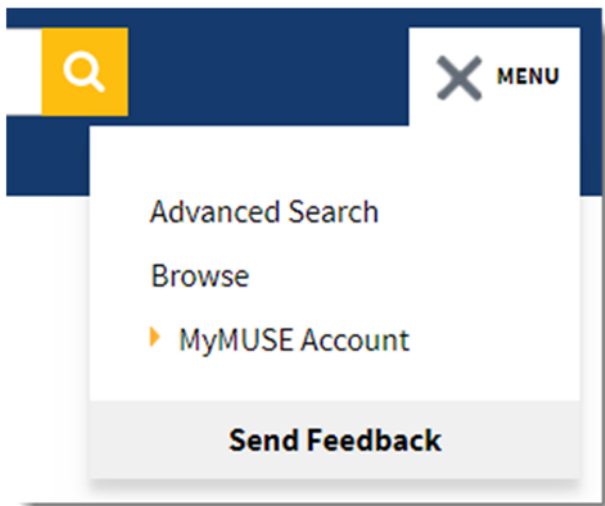

Project MUSE is a leading provider of digital humanities and social sciences content. It currently includes 468,570 articles and 1,177,319 chapters by 265 publishers, on a wide variety of topics including education, history, literature, medicine, philosophy, economics, politics and technology.

This guide is intended to help you use this database.

Searching

After you have logged in, you will see the basic search box. Type the title of the article you want, or the keywords of your research. Put quotation marks around the title or key phrases for a more precise search.

To conduct a more precise search, click Menu to the right of the basic search box, and then click Advanced Search.

The screenshot shows a search interface with two search fields, each with a 'Content' dropdown menu and an 'And' dropdown menu. Below the search fields is a '+ Add Field' button and a yellow 'Search' button. Underneath, there are two filter sections: 'ACCESS' with radio buttons for 'All content' and 'Only content I have access to' (selected), and 'CONTENT TYPE' with checkboxes for 'Books' and 'Journals'.

Enter your search term in the box, and then use the drop-down menu on the left to choose where to search for that term: Content (the text of articles), Title, Author or Publisher.

If you are using a second search term, choose AND, OR, or NOT.

- AND narrows your search to items which include both terms.
- OR broadens your search to items which contain either your first search term or your second.
- NOT excludes items that contain your second search term

For example, if I want to find articles which contain 'management' in the title but are not written by Williams, I would use Advanced search like this:

The screenshot shows a search interface with two search fields. The first field has a 'Title' dropdown menu and contains the text 'management'. The second field has an 'Author' dropdown menu and contains the text 'Williams'. To the right of the second field is a dropdown menu set to 'None'. Below the search fields is a '+ Add Field' button and a yellow 'Search' button.

You can then use the filters underneath to narrow down your search, including limiting your search to articles published in recent years.

Search results

The screenshot shows a search results page with the following elements and annotations:

- Filter Results: A sidebar on the left with a "Clear all facets" button, two "Content" dropdown menus (one containing "management"), "And" connectors, an "Add Field" button, and a "Search" button. Below this are "ACCESS" options (All content, Only content I have access to) and "CONTENT TYPE" options (Books, Journals, Articles (3477), Reviews (625), Issues (4)).
- Results: A main area with a "Sort By" dropdown menu set to "Relevance". A red arrow points to this menu with the annotation: "Change the order of the results".
- Search Results: A list of results. The first result is "Landscape Journal" with a thumbnail and description. Below it, a search summary states: "Searched for: the term [management] in content 41435 results found".
- Second Result: "Conflict Management in Lebanon" by Julinda Abu Nasr, published in "Bookbird: A Journal of International Children's Literature" by Johns Hopkins University Press, Volume 46, Number 3, 2008, pp. 75-80. A red arrow points to the "View | Download | Save" links with the annotation: "Click to read or download the article".
- Annotations: A red box on the left sidebar contains the text: "Narrow your search by using the filters on the left".

After you have conducted a search, you will be taken to a page like the one above.
